Remote Learning and SEN Provision

At Hillbrook, we offer high quality teaching within the classroom for children with SEN and are keen that this inclusive teaching, which benefits all of our children, continues in the virtual classroom.

This document outlines the provision that children with SEN can expect when they are learning from home.

SEN Services

The following services will continue to support children remotely.

Service	Provision
Speech and Language	Speech and language therapy will be delivered virtually by therapists to children at school and at home. Teaching assistants will deliver 20-minute live SALT sessions, twice per week, with children to work on their targets.
Literacy Support Service	The Literacy Support Service will deliver sessions virtually to children at home or at school.
Victoria Drive	Victoria Drive PRU will offer virtual sessions and phone contact with children they are working with, alongside parent support.
Place2Be	Place2be phone contact and virtual sessions will be delivered by counsellors. Place2talk sessions will be delivered to a group or class attending school by the manager of the service.
Educational Psychologists	Virtual consultations can be arranged with parents and carers Virtual observations and 1:1 work will take place with children at home or in school.
ASD – Wandsworth Autism Advisory Service	Virtual observations, videos and advisory calls are available for parents and teachers.

In addition to these services, school staff will continue to support children on the SEN register to make progress through the delivery of their individual educational plans.

EHCP and Individual Education Targets

Children with EHCPs are expected to come to school where it is in their best interests. If it is decided that a child with an EHCP should learn at home, they will have an additional live session or phone call to work on their specific targets.

Children on the SEN register with individual educational targets (IETs) will continue have these targets set and provision adjusted accordingly. They will have an additional live session or phone call to work on their specific targets.

Learning Mentor Support

Learning mentors continue to offer support for key targeted children through live 1:1 sessions or through telephone calls.

Differentiated Learning

Where appropriate, children will have access to differentiated learning individually or in small groups to support their progress. For example, additional phonics lessons in KS1. Targeted children will have access to online learning platforms designed to support children with SEN (e.g. Lexia). Adaptive equipment can be loaned to parents upon request (e.g. writing slopes).
